The Call of the Unknown

*Each piece is shaped by unseen hands,
perhaps our own, veiled by shifting sands.*

*Edges carved by thought's long drift,
a fragment of the Whole beneath the dream.*

The Heart of the Shadow

(Fear)

We were the puzzle.

We the hand.

We were the picture.

Vast. Unwritten.

The Burden of Duty

(Obligation)

*Adjacent souls begin to trace
the ghost of their intended place.
By touching others, fitting near,
their shape becomes more whole, less edged.*

The Maze of Certainty

(Control)

*No more seeking, no more need.
No hunger left for thought to feed.
In that stillness, vast and whole,
the seeker saw. Then fell awake.*

The Tower of Endless Measures

(Comparison)

*The seeker wandered through time and thought,
through every truth the wise had taught.
They scaled the heights of mind's domain,
yet still the question remained.*

The Descent into Truth

*What's left to see, if none can hold,
a meaning fixed, a truth retold?
In losing all, you cease to seek.
And only then does silence speak.*

The Grace of Flaws

(Perfection)

*They fasted, prayed, bowed with devotion, searching for what could not be placed.
A meaning cracked, a truth half-sweet,
a sense of purpose still incomplete.*

The Chasing Mirage

(Expectation)

*But every answer turned to mist.
Each grasp dissolved in silent twist.
Meaning slithered beyond reach,
a shadow thought strained to breach.*

Whispers of Fulfilment

(Desire)

*Meaning is a flickering light,
shifting wherever the gaze falls.
And when you turn to claim its grace,
it fades, leaving only space.*

The Chains of the Unforgiven

(Pain and Resentment)

*And when the final piece dissolves,
there is no puzzle, only space.
Nothing edged. Nothing framed.
Only stillness, vast and unnamed.*

Unmasking the Self

(The Witness)

It does not speak. It does not move.

Nothing to prove.

*Yet in its gaze, all things appear,
and all that's borrowed falls away.*

The Unfolding of Wholeness

*Beneath the thoughts that rise and fade, beyond the forms the mind creates,
there lies a mirror, tarnished, clear.
It holds no name. It knows no fear.*

The Gift of the Present

(Presence)

*Not something reached or grasped or earned,
but what was never once unlearned.*

*No need to fit, no need to seek,
no questions left for thought to speak.*

The Mirror of Wholeness

(Self-Love)

*No piece misplaced. No soul astray.
Each holds the curve of the hidden Whole.
In isolation, undefined,
but in connection, aligned.*

The Rhythm Within

(Intuition)

*The seeker searched with earnest eyes,
across the earth, through shifting skies.
But all along, within, behind,
the truth was not what thought could find.*

Beyond the Mirror

(Integration)

*No path remains, no step, no goal.
Only perfect rest within the Whole.
No self to seek, no form to find.
Only the stillness that holds the light.*

The First Steps of a New Path

No search, no claim, no final word.

Only presence, silent and clear.

No end, no self to undo.

No "I". Only You.
